STATEMENT

Migraine is an episodic headache disorder, occurring in attacks and accompanied by nausea, vomiting and hypersensitivity to sound and light. It is a common condition, affecting approximately 10 % of the population. Migraine is more frequent in women than in men. Every 5th woman suffers from migraine!

Red wine is a well-known migraine trigger. The risk of provoking an attack varies considerably between the different products. However, for the moment it is very difficult to orientate in the selection of wines, and identify those who are best suited for people suffering from migraine.

The guidance offered by MigrainePolice, will accordingly be of great value, and is sought for by many migraine patients, who will now have the opportunity to avoid migraine attacks triggered by biogene amines or too much tannins.
